To ensure long-term performance, safety, and warranty eligibility, all RSI Outdoors hunting blinds must be installed according to the following guidelines:

- A. Solid Substrate Required – Your blind must be on a solid, stable, and level foundation. Approved substrates include:
 - a. RSI Outdoors Bases, Sleds, or Towers – Engineered specifically for optimal support
 - b. Wood Framing – must be treated, level, and securely fastened.

WARNING! Installing your blind directly on bare ground, gravel, sand, mulch, or other loose/unstable materials will void your warranty and may cause product damage.

- B. Proper Drainage – The installation site must have adequate water drainage to avoid water-related damage.
 - a. Avoid flood-prone or low-lying areas.
 - b. DO NOT install where water pools after rain.
 - c. Grade the ground to direct water away from the blind's base.

- C. Level Installation Surface – Always install the blind on a level surface. An uneven foundation can result in

- a. Structural stress or warping
 - b. Misaligned doors/windows
 - c. Voided warranty claims
- D. No Direct Ground Contact – Placing the blind directly on soil or other non-ridged materials can lead to:
- a. Moisture infiltration
 - b. Warping and degradation
 - c. Unsafe or unstable access

Tip: For any questions about site preparation or installation, contact RSI Outdoors Customer Support before setup begins.
